Please revise your blog post. I understand that many teachers would rather charge their colleagues money rather than honor the tradition of freely sharing materials for the higher aim of benefiting all children, but it's especially a bummer to read a great post with the expectation of free materials, and then get slapped with a $10 price tag once you've clicked on the link.

In Brief: Good design makes documents easier to use, helps documents stand out from other pieces of information, and lends credibility to document creators. Librarians across library types and departments provide instruction and training materials to co-workers and library users. For these materials to be readable and accessible, they must follow guidelines for usable document design.
